

Channeled February 6, 2020- Jennifer C. Williams

The past is gone, long gone into the wind as if it never were. We only know reality as we exist day to day.

In the beginning there was light, and you stood there miraculously with the miracle of hope. Renew your conscious, understand who you are- Remember.

Remember the days-the days of your learning. The languages you spoke, the promises you made. The secrets you kept in your heart. The friends you made.

The worlds you have brought together, the battles you have fought, the loves and losses you have had, the prayers spoken, and the wishes granted.

It is time to walk forward in this life renewed, fresh, able and willing. Remember who you are and just be.

Fear not for the Lord protects you as well as the light. Your angels fly to destroy evil and come to your aid at will.

The mighty will be just, the illusion is fading, and the light will win. Beyond time you will see the ages will come together and you will know- Beyond your years, beyond your vision. Be still and listen always. Peace is at hand as well as divinity. Your circle will be complete. Ascension is critical to the mass.

Speak truth-Conquer lies. The unjust are parting. Governments will fall. The rise of man will be at peace. Generations will come together in harmony.

Say a prayer for the weak for they will need your strength.

The great book is within you. Ask and you shall receive it.

The tree of life was planted by you with seeds of greatness.

Through the tree begins anew.

A different type of humanity- a blending of 5 worlds, a blending to predict future peace in time. Love binds all, love predicts all, love transcends time. Humanity will fall without it.